INERTIA IN MARKET

in prices were rather more numerous than they were last Saturday, the trading was dull, reflecting, as it has done for a considerable time past, inertia on the part of the larger financial interests. However, the undertone of the stock market was decidedly firm, some observers going so far as to declare that they saw indications of a creeping upward movement in prices, which is frequently significant of a larger and broader rise later on.

minutes prices uniformly recovered, and it was officially announced that no decision in the commodities clause case would be made during the day, this being, of course, equivalent to a declaration that the decision will not be handed down for another week.

Although gains in prices to-day were mostly those of different "specialties," they were, nevertheless, by no means inconsiderable. The Missouri Pacific shares were particularly strong, and naturally so, because of the decision of Judge Mc-Pherson, of the United States Circuit Court in Missouri in the 2-cent passenger and maximum freight-rate cases. Elsewhere declines in the market were entirely inconsequential.

Wheat prices fell very sharply upon the announcement of the government figures, the May option, in which the covering operations have centered, of course, declining most. Another matter that was generally helpful to the day's stock market was the prevalence of views that danger of a coal strike in the anthracite region this spring is becoming smaller. The miners seem to understand that under existing circumstances they will have small hope of success in such a struggle. Sterling exchange continued very strong. The Safest Investments

Are those that do not fluctuate during disburbe conditions of the money or stock markets. First deed of trust notes (first mortgages), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, conattitute "gilt-edge" inrestments. They do not depend upon the financial responsibility of indi-tiduals or corp ratious for their stability, and are exempt from taxation as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from $500 upward. Send for booklet, "Concerning towards and treatments."
